

Cobra AV® is a low cost, high quality, portable immersive display solution. The system delivers a combination of leading immersive hardware from the companies Cobra Curved Display® range and world class training content. The user is immersed into an interactive training environment. With greater fidelity comes greater presence which result in increased awareness, better knowledge acquisition and retention.

Immersion is achieved through our state of the art OmniMirror® optical system. It is made up with high quality HD or 4K optics and a next generation first surface mirror. The content is then geometrically corrected in real time using our unique Cobra True Dimension® image generators. The end result - high quality, high fidelity and a highly immersive experience.

With higher demand for high quality, cost-effective simulation training and immersive display technology, we work hard to make Cobra AV® the best cost-benefit solution on the market. Building on the success of the Cobra Curved Display®, we are proud to present a fully customisable suite of solutions, ready to fit any immersive display need. Research has shown that we learn through experience. Why not make it immersive?

What's new?

Cobra AV® underwent a considerable design overhaul with various improvements and additions:

- Improved Cobra True Dimension® image generators and software.
- New fresh high gloss finish which is more robust, looks great anywhere.
- Additional mirror protector is now included with every solution.
- Easily upgrades to multi user interactive hub.

We've also expanded the capabilities of the existing design to include various optional features, like flight cases and mirror shield.
